

TOADY

It's a lovely day here today on Pluto, only -360 degrees. Our five moons are looking great.

My name is Eswind Mysommer and I have I consider myself to be fortunate enough to be taken on as a TOAD. That is a Trainee Outernet Apprenticed Developer, for the Universe Wide Web.

We have had Pluto Wide Web, PWW as we call it for a number of years. I have Thickband at home and enjoy playing my favourite on-line games there. Sometimes the wifi traffic gets caught in the rings around Pluto and that does frustrate me. I hate having to re-boot the modulator-demodulator. Oh, I'm sure that I am detailing too much techy stuff here; I'll just get on with the story.

As part of my work developing the UWW I have to test eight websites a day. At work I use Incredibly Thickband then and I have no trouble with wifi. Today I am looking at websites from Planet Earth. I have seen seven so far today, all pretty much of a boring nature.

Before I had time to start looking at my last website of the day, the bell went for lunch-time. Brussel Sprout sandwiches were in my lunchbox today. They are my favourite; I can't wait to open the box.

I didn't get a chance; the BIG Boss came in and asked me to check out something with him that was going on at the Earth's BBC iPlayer.

We found 'Only fools and Horses', quiet quickly and began to watch what was going on. Three men, an old man called Grandad, one in the middle named Del boy and Rodders the young one. They were living in a residence high in the sky; they were surrounded by piles of toilet rolls.

We must have tapped into an Earth dwellers home. We never expected this was how Eathlings lived. The two younger ones then went out in a yellow moving thingy with 'Trotters Independent Traders', written on the side. Sometimes they sold things from a table in the street.

WOW, this was good we even followed them about. We felt sure we were not following them in real time, because of their distance from Pluto, but nevertheless, it's amazing. We went into a place where everybody was drinking and met Denzil and Boycie.

We are learning so much about life on Earth. People often have more than one name like Dave and You-plonker.

The ones called Del-boy and Rodders disappeared into a red box with windows on the side that said TELEPHONE on the top. They came out wearing brightly coloured clothes, we could only assume that this was a showering and clothes changing machine.

They ran down the road very fast with their capes flying in the wind. "Where are they going," the BIG Boss said. This was getting very thrilling. Then the screen flickered and the two people went into slow motion and the screen froze.
